been relocated to allow easier engine switching and a new CD (capacitive discharge) ignition module provides a hotter spark. For much easier starting, the Q50S now includes a built-in spring starter as well as its own aluminum radial engine mount for convenience. More information is available about the Q50S if you contact Quadra Aero Engines at their address above or call (416)852-3500.

CARL GOLDBERG MODELS, 4734 West Chicago Ave., Chicago, IL 60651, has released a new, smaller version of the Sky Tiger. The new Jr. Tiger takes its place as the logical next step up from the Eaglet and features extremely simple, step-by-step photo instructions. Specifications: wing span - 50 inches; radio - four channels; and, engine - .15 to .30 two cycle. Plans show the options of building as a "home-built", as a "naval" or as an "executive" 4-place cabin style. For more information about the new Jr. Tiger, contact Carl Goldberg at their address above.
